

Same to You
Owen Danoff

I could be the sun, I could warm your day
You could be the sun, you could light my way
And guide me from the dark
I could be the rain when the clouds get low
You could be the rain, I could feel you flow
Beside me, 'til the storm clouds part

I don't want to be greedy, but I want to start right now
I know you don't need me, maybe you want me around
And this is only a feeling, but I've got a feeling like it's true
You could be everything, I want to be the same to you

I could be the air in your parachute
You could be the air carrying me through the skies
Inside my dreams
We could be the grains in an hourglass
Holding on to moments to make them last
Before they're memories

And I don't want to be greedy, but I want to start right now
I know you don't need me, maybe you want me around
And this is only a feeling, but I've got a feeling like it's true
You could be everything, I want to be the same to you

You know that my door is open wide
Waiting for the day you come inside
For good

I could be the sun, I could warm your day
You could be the sun, you could light my way
And may we never set

I don't want to be greedy, but I want to start right now
I know you don't need me, maybe you want me around
And this is only a feeling, but I've got a feeling like it's true
You could be everything, I want to be the same to you
